

I am outraged at the lack of morals depicted in the super bowl half time show. It is one thing to have that type of showing on a cable show format and a completely different senerio on public television. I only pray that you will make the people responsible, for my children viewing a breast on television, pay dearly. Thank you for your time and consideration.